INSTITUTE FOR SOCIAL POLICY DEVELOPMENT

The Institute for Social Policy Development is a civic think-tank operating in strategic partnership with the Kulski Foundation for Polish-American relations.

It is a place of in-depth debate, analyzes, solutions proposals, as well as exchange of views between a range of circles.

The concept behind the establishment of the Institute is to analyze economic and social phenomena through the prism of health and healthcare issues, which affect every single area of life and economic activity.

We set up the Institute during the COVID-19 pandemic as a response to previously unknown challenges and changing reality. In the unfolding new order, it is required to think about health care and related system solutions in a completely different way than before.

The IRSS mission is to provide the decision-makers with crosssectional analytical materials by engaging a wide range of opinion leaders, sector experts, representatives of the social area (employees, employers, etc.), media, as well as representatives of public administration – both at the central and local government level in the public discourse.

IDEA OF THE CONFERENCE

The goal of the conference entitled "Poland and Italy amid the crises and challenges in the healthcare sector – practice and experience" is to create a Polish-Italian forum for debate and exchange of good practices, various experiences, and recommendations for public institutions focusing on the challenges faced by the healthcare sector. The initiative launched by the Institute for the Development of Social Affairs, in cooperation with the Polish Embassy in Rome, is also aiming to serve as a platform to present the state instruments of support for the healthcare sector and strengthen scientific cooperation while contributing to the development of innovation based on the relations between Poland and Italy.

Polish and Italian representatives from a range of institutions and organisations in the healthcare sector, parliamentarians involved in this field, scientists and medical experts, and representatives of the pharmaceutical industry, have been invited to join the event as panelists. The debate is going to be moderated by healthcare experts. It is our firm belief, that undertaking joint initiatives with representatives of different countries, including government officials, experts, as well as delegates from nongovernmental organizations, will facilitate the exchange of good practices and know-how, as well as foster scientific cooperation in the healthcare sector both in Poland and in Italy.
